

Deborah S. Barbouth, M.D.

Dr. Deborah Barbouth is an Assistant Professor and Interim Clinical Director at the Dr. John T. Macdonald Foundation Department of Human Genetics at the University of Miami Miller School of Medicine in Miami, Florida and Medical Director for Newborn Screening for South Florida. She is also Director of the Victor Program for Jewish Genetic Diseases at the University of Miami. Dr. Barbouth is board certified in Pediatrics, Clinical and Biochemical Genetics. She has specific interests in Fragile X, metabolic disorders including lysosomal storage diseases, genodermatosis and Jewish genetic diseases.

To make an appointment, call 305-243-6006.